

Insurance, Renewal and Continuing Education

22 TAC Chapter 535, Subchapter R · Financial responsibility and CE · For the TREC state exam (25 questions, pass at 75%)

Getting the licence and keeping it are two separate sets of rules, and nearly every item here is a number. Numbers are what you lose under time pressure, so treat this file as a table to memorise rather than a passage to read.

Financial responsibility

- Professional liability insurance, or other insurance covering violations of Occupations Code Chapter 1102, Subchapter G.
- Minimum $100,000 per occurrence.
- Proof required before the licence issues, and current proof at every active renewal.

This is where your most-missed national question meets Texas law. On the national exam, what an inspector should carry is answered both general liability AND errors and omissions — the options accumulate. Texas goes further and makes E&O, or equivalent, a statutory condition of holding the licence at $100,000 per occurrence. General liability protects the business; E&O is the one Texas actually requires.

Renewal

- Licence term: 2 years.
- 32 hours of inspector continuing education per renewal cycle.
- Of those, a mandatory 8-hour Inspector Legal & Ethics and Standards of Practice Review course.
- Maximum 16 hours of credit for any single subject.
- All courses must be completed during the current licence period.
- Active renewal also requires current proof of financial responsibility, and — for Apprentice and Real Estate Inspectors — a sponsoring Professional Inspector.

Late renewal — the ladder

1. Up to 6 months after expiration: you may still renew.
2. Beyond 6 months: you must reapply for an initial licence.
3. Beyond 2 years: you must reapply and pass the examination again.

Inactive status

- An inactive licence renews with no CE and no insurance required.
- An inactive licence holder may not perform inspections.

Check Yourself

Your licence expired seven months ago. What must you do?

Reapply for an initial licence — past six months you can no longer simply renew. Past two years you would also have to sit the exam again.

You took 20 hours of CE on structural systems in one cycle. How much counts?

16 hours. No single subject may contribute more than 16 of the 32 required hours.

What is the minimum insurance figure, and when must it be in place?

$100,000 per occurrence, before the licence issues — and current proof at every active renewal.
